THE
NATURAL HISTORY
OF THE
Island of BARBADOS.
BOOK II.

Of the Fishes peculiar to this and the neighbouring Islands.

IT is the Opinion of some great Men, that the Almighty made these his Islands for relieving the rest, as some great Universities, peculiar to one certain Part of the World, but as the former may be dispensed with, for the benefit of the whole, so some great Universities, as the latter may be dispensed with, for the benefit of the whole. If Egypt is often called the granary of the world, the same may be said of these Islands, as the latter may be dispensed with, for the benefit of the whole. When the South Sea Islands are first, the various islands within their various bounds, and some not before the South Sea, to cross the Land, so that if this Part of the World is sometimes called the granary of the world, the same may be said of these Islands, as the latter may be dispensed with, for the benefit of the whole.

(1) The first is the first of the South Sea.

KENT is 60 miles in length from east to west, and 30 in breadth from north to south. It is divided into 5 lathes, which are subdivided into 68 hundreds, which contain 2 cities, 29 market towns, 408 parishes, 52,995 houses; and its population amounts to 307,624.

No county in England is more diversified, both in soil and appearance, than Kent. Its productions are corn, hops, madder, woad, and hemp; cherries and apples in great quantities; also cattle of the largest kinds. Paper making, and calico printing, rank foremost in its manufactures. The principal rivers are the Thames, the Medway, the Derwent, the Stour, the Cray, and the Rother.

Nissen 1316. Considered the finest work ever published on the Genus Crocus. George Maw was a polymath whose occupations included chemistry, geology, botany, archaeology, watercolour painting and gardening. He was a manufacturer of caustic and other tiles which were exported all over the world. Maw and Company also produced art pottery, employing well-known designers such as Walter Crane. Maw was an experienced plant-hunter and accompanied Sir Joseph Dalton Hooker on a plant-hunting expedition to Morocco and the Atlas Mountains in 1871. He became an expert on the Crocus and illustrated his monograph - the result of ten years toil - with his own watercolours, of which John Ruskin wrote that they were "most exquisite... and quite beyond criticism."

157 England & Ireland. Vrients (Jan Baptist), Angliae et Hiberniae Accurata Descriptio Veteribus et Recentioribus Nominibus Illustrata....., c.1612, hand coloured engraved map, extensively decorated with a strapwork cartouche, sea monsters, mermaids and Neptune, a genealogical 'family tree' of the Kings and Queens of England from William I to James I dominates the right hand side of the map, one small hole in image, trimmed to plate mark on one margin, central fold strengthened on verso, 440 x 575mm, Latin text on verso

This map first appears in Abraham Ortelius's atlas of 1606. This slightly later state shows the alteration to the central circular panel on the family tree which now states that James I is King of Britain and not King of Britain and France. This previous state had understandably proved unpopular with the French authorities and Vrients altered the plate. R.W.Shirley, Early Printed Maps of the British Isles, no.275 and no.323. 254* Baxter (George, colour printer). 'The Newtonian System of the Universe', plus another five plates from the series on Planetary Motion [1846], engraved by W.P. Chubb after Isaac Frost and printed in oil colours by George Baxter, slight spotting to margins, signs of adhesion to verso, each approx 240 x 310mm, together with another thirteen 'Baxter process' prints by Baxter and by licensees including Leighton, Le Blond, Evans and Kronheim, various sizes and condition. The 'Planetary Motion' prints are based on a series of charts produced by Isaac Frost, a scientist who was associated with the Victorian sect known as the Muggletonians. They attempt to show the earth as the centre of the Universe. John Reeve and Lodowick Muggleton founded the sect just after the English civil war in the 1650's. According to Chapter XI of the book of Revelations God would appoint two 'witnesses' to preach to the ungodly world in its last few days. Reeves and Muggleton believed that they were these witnesses. The Muggletonians thought that Jesus was not the son of God but God himself and one of its core beliefs was that God had little interest in his creation and this therefore rendered acts of worship, martyrdom, prayer and the singing of hymns redundant. The sect continued well into the 19th century. The 'Planetary Motion' prints are considered to be amongst the rarer of the Baxter prints.

HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS & AUTOGRAPHS

456 The Amateur, edited by Miss Annalice Robinson, vols. 11-13, August 1912-November 1914, a group of original volumes of this circulating manuscript magazine comprising typed-up and manuscript poems, short stories, editorial, illustrated with watercolours, drawings, and photographs, a total of approx. 1,000 pp., over 100 original watercolours and drawings and approx. sixty small photos, each of the four main volumes hard bound with hand lettered or pictorial covers, each with Supplements and 'Second Class' numbers, these totalling fourteen issues in wrappers, some leaves and illustrations loose, several wrappers frayed, all approx. 23 x 18 cm, together with a bundle of letters, mostly to Miss Robinson, and her pocket diary for 1939, the collection now housed in five modern cloth book boxes with gilt-lettered red leather labels to spines, 4to

The Amateur seems to have started in August 1902, originally edited by D. Girvan. Miss Annalice Robinson of Southampton became editor in 1910 until the magazine ceased publication in late 1915 or early 1916. 'In the case of this particular Journal, contributors paid one shilling a year and constituted a subscribing group. Each member contributed - compulsorily - either a poem, short story, photograph, drawing, cartoon, or painting once a month on regulation size paper. These submissions were then assembled by the editor and hand-bound into a monthly volume which was posted in sequence to the first of the chain of members. These lived not only in England, Wales and Scotland, but also Ireland and even France - at least two members in 1913 were French. The members were only allowed to keep the monthly volume for two days when on pain of a fine (1d rising to 2d) for late delivery, the volume was posted to the next member down the chain. A postcard had to be sent to the editor as soon as this was done, incurring a 2d fine if it were not. With 25 members (1910) it took four months to return the magazine to the editor, with 43 members (1914), five to seven months. The editor retained the little mss volumes as organiser and stoutly defended this right as recompense for the effort'. In addition to the main volume, there were Second Class numbers and Supplements, fourteen of which are included in this group offered here. While the work is strictly amateur much of it is of a good standard and this unique fragment throws light on a middle-class pastime of the Edwardian era before it succumbed to the pressures of duty and the first world war. Provenance: John Gadd. Further information on this Journal is provided in John Gadd's article in The Ephemerist, no. 100, March 1998, pp. 724-726 (a copy of which is provided with the lot).

Frances Nuttall was born in India of English parents. Her father was a well-known architect and water-diviner, and her grandfather was the Government Astronomer in Madras, Norman Pogson. She was educated in England, and was offered a place at the Slade School of Art, but she returned to India instead. However, she subsequently attended Exeter Art School and studied calligraphy and illumination under Ruth Wood. Her skill and craftsmanship in calligraphy obtained her many commissions, including some for the Royal Family, such as a loyal address to Queen Elizabeth II on her accession. Frances was a member of the Society of Scribes and Illuminators, and was elected to Fellowship of the Society of Designer-Craftsmen. Her artistic skills extended into leatherwork, glove-making, tatting and bookbinding, in which crafts she lectured and gave courses at Denman College and local institutes. In later life she moved to Glastonbury where she was much involved in the Chalice Well Trust and the early Glastonbury movement. Her much-loved 'Prayer of the Chalice' continues to have worldwide circulation.

"A treatise on celestial mechanics in the tradition of Newton's Principia. Here Laplace applied his mathematical theories of probability to celestial bodies and concluded that the apparent changes in the motion of the planets and their satellites are changes of long periods, and that the solar system is in all probability very stable. He gave methods for calculating the movements of translation and rotation of heavenly bodies and for resolving problems of tides, from which he deduced the mass of the moon" (Dibner). "Laplace's system of celestial mechanics (a term he coined) marked an advance over that of Newton, who had posited the necessity of a Deity in the universe to correct planetary irregularities; Laplace on the other hand, when asked by Napoleon why his system contained no mention of the Creator, replied 'I had no need of such a hypothesis.'" (Norman 1277). The above set corresponds to that of the first issue Norman copies, with vols. I-II with the Crapelet and Duprat imprint only and French Republican date of "An VII"; and with the "Mecanique Celeste" watermarks; the other vols. with the correct supplements. PMM 252.

Conditions of Sale and Business

1. The Seller warrants to the Auctioneer and the buyer that he is the true owner or is properly authorised to sell the property by the true owner and is able to transfer good and marketable title to the property free from any third party claims.
2. (a) The highest bidder to be the buyer. If during the auction the Auctioneer considers that a dispute has arisen he has absolute authority to settle it or re-offer the lot. The Auctioneer may at his sole discretion determine the advance of bidding or refuse a bid, divide any lot, combine any two or more lots or withdraw any lot without prior notice.
(b) Where goods are bought at auction by a buyer who has entered into an agreement with another or others that the other or others (or some of them) shall abstain from bidding for the goods and the buyer or other party or one of the other parties is a dealer (as defined in the Auction Biddings Agreement Act 1927) the buyer warrants that the goods are bought bona fide on joint account.
3. The buyer shall pay the price at which a lot is knocked down by the Auctioneer to the buyer ("the hammer price") together with a premium of 19.5% of the hammer price. Where the lot is marked by an asterisk the premium will be subject to VAT at 23.40% which under the Auctioneer's Margin Scheme will form part of the buyer's premium on our invoice and will not be separately identified (the premium added to the hammer price will hereafter collectively be referred to as "the total sum due"). By making any bid the buyer acknowledges that his attention has been drawn to the fact that on the sale of any lot the Auctioneer will receive from the seller commission at its usual rates in addition to the said premium of 19.5% and assents to the Auctioneer receiving the said commission.
4. (a) The buyer shall forthwith upon the purchase give in his name and permanent address and pay to the Auctioneer immediately after the conclusion of the auction the total sum due.
(b) The buyer may be required to pay down during the course of the sale the whole or any part of the total sum due, and if he fails to do so after such request the lot or lots may at the Auctioneer's absolute discretion be put up again and resold immediately.
(c) The buyer shall at his own expense take away any lot or lots purchased no later than five working days after the auction day.
(d) The Auctioneer may at his own discretion agree credit terms with a buyer and extend the time limits for collection in special cases but otherwise payment shall be deemed to have been made only after the Auctioneer has received cash or a sterling banker's draft or the buyer's cheque has been cleared.
5. (a) If the buyer fails to pay for or take away any lot or lots pursuant to clause 4 or breaches any other condition of that clause the Auctioneer as agent for the seller shall be entitled after consultation with the seller to exercise one or other of the following rights:
(i) Rescind the sale of that or any other lots sold to the buyer who defaults and re-sell the lot or lots whereupon the defaulting buyer shall pay to the Auctioneer any shortfall between the proceeds of that sale after deduction of costs of re-sale and the total sum due. Any surplus shall belong to the seller.
(ii) Proceed for damages for breach of contract.
(b) Without prejudice to the Auctioneer's rights hereunder if any lots or lots are not collected within five days or such longer period as the Auctioneer may have agreed otherwise, the Auctioneer may charge the buyer a storage charge of £1.00 + VAT at the current rate per lot per day.
(c) Ownership of the lot purchased shall not pass to the buyer until he has paid to the Auctioneer the total sum due.
6. (a) The seller shall be entitled to place a reserve on any lot and the Auctioneer shall have the right to bid on behalf of the seller for any lot on which a reserve has been placed. A seller may not bid on any lot on which a reserve has been placed.
(b) Where any lot fails to sell, the Auctioneer shall notify the seller accordingly. The seller shall make arrangements either to re-offer the lot for sale or to collect the lot and may be asked to pay a commission not exceeding 50% of the selling commission and any special expenses incurred in cataloguing the lot.
(c) If such arrangements are not made within seven days of the notification the Auctioneer is empowered to sell the lot by auction or by private treaty at not less than the reserve price and to receive from the seller the normal selling commission and special expenses.
7. Any representation or statement by the Auctioneer in any catalogue, brochure or advertisement of forthcoming sales as to authorship, attribution, genuineness, origin, date, age, provenance, condition or estimated selling price is a statement of opinion only. Every person interested should exercise and rely on his own judgement as to such matters and neither the Auctioneer nor his servants or agents are responsible for the correctness of such opinions. No warranty whatsoever is given by the Auctioneer or the seller in respect of any lot and any express or implied warranties are hereby excluded.
8. (a) Notwithstanding any other terms of these conditions, if within fourteen days of the sale the Auctioneer has received from the buyer of any lot notice in writing that in his view the lot is a deliberate forgery and within fourteen days after such notification the buyer returns the same to the Auctioneer in the same condition as at the time of the sale and satisfies the Auctioneer that considered in the light of the entry in the catalogue the lot is a deliberate forgery then the sale of the lot will be rescinded and the purchase price of the same refunded. "A deliberate forgery" means a lot made with intention to deceive.
(b) A buyer's claim under this condition shall be limited to any amount paid to the Auctioneer for the lot and for the purpose of this condition the buyer shall be the person to whom the original invoice was made out by the Auctioneer.
9. Lots may be removed during the sale after full settlement in accordance with 4(d) hereof.
10. All goods delivered to the Auctioneer's premises will be deemed to be delivered for sale by auction unless otherwise stated in writing and will be catalogued and sold at the Auctioneer's discretion and accepted by the Auctioneer subject to all these conditions. In the case of miscellaneous books, the Auctioneer reserves the right to extract and dispose of books that, in the opinion of the Auctioneer at his absolute discretion, have no saleable value and, therefore, might detract from the saleability of the rest of the lot and the Auctioneer shall incur no liability to the seller, in respect of the books disposed of. By delivering the goods to the Auctioneer for inclusion in his auction sales each seller acknowledges that he/she accepts and agrees to all the conditions.
11. (a) Unless otherwise instructed in writing all goods on the Auctioneer's premises and in their custody will be held insured against the risks of fire, burglary, water damage and accidental breakage or damage. The value of the goods so covered will be the hammer price, or in the case of unsold lots the best bid, or in the case of loss or damage prior to the sale that which the specialised staff of the Auctioneer shall in their absolute discretion estimate to be the auction value of such goods.
(b) The Auctioneer shall not be responsible for damage to or the loss, theft, or destruction of any goods not so insured because of the owner's written instructions.
12. The Auctioneer shall remit the proceeds of the sale to the seller thirty days after the day of the auction provided that the Auctioneer has received the total sum due from the buyer. In all other cases the Auctioneer will remit the proceeds of the sale to the seller within seven days of the receipt by the Auctioneer of the total sum due. The Auctioneer will not be deemed to have received the total sum due until after any cheque delivered by the buyer has been cleared. In the event of the Auctioneer exercising his right to rescind the sale his obligation to the seller hereunder lapses.
13. In the case of the seller withdrawing instructions to the Auctioneer to sell any lot or lots, the Auctioneer may charge a fee of 12.5% of the Auctioneer's middle estimate of the auction price of the lot withdrawn together with Value Added Tax thereon and any expenses incurred in respect of the lot or lots.
14. The Auctioneer's current standard notices and information (i.e. Collation and Amendments) will apply to any contract with the Auctioneer as if incorporated herein.
15. These conditions shall be governed by and construed in accordance with English Law.

Postage can be arranged for most purchases. For UK and European customers we use DPD (formerly Parceline) or Royal Mail: a separate charge is added to the invoice (minimum £15) and parcels are despatched as soon as possible after payment has been received. All framed and glazed items and all lots for overseas customers outside Europe will be sent to Mail Boxes Etc. (tel: Swindon 01793 525009) or R.F. Shipping (tel: London 0845 873 6240). Both of these companies will quote and invoice separately. Please note: DWBA invoices must be paid before consignments are handed to third party shipping companies.

The nearest train station to the saleroom is Kemble (BR) which is on the London (Paddington) to Worcester Shrub Hill line. Train journey times from London are on average 90 minutes whether direct or with one change, and run at about one per hour from early until late. Several of the trains in each direction are direct and about half the services require a brief change at Swindon. Customers are advised to check train times and book as early as possible for the best range of ticket services and discounts.
